SMALL CHANGES ADD UP

If 10,000 LA Biters buy rechargeable batteries instead of disposable ones, we'll keep the weight of seven elephants in waste from entering landfills each year.

COCKTAIL FACT

Green Day's music video "Longview" cost only $300 to make.

Greener Day

The Bite

Errands got you running around town like an American Idiot? When I (well, you) Come Around to Green and Greener, the no-nonsense supply depot meets minimalist chic boutique, you can get everything in one place. Created by a LEED-certified interior designer (read: eco expert), the store is stocked with a well-edited selection of locally made necessities: Grab basics such as organic cotton swabs and cellulose sponges, as well as harder-to-find stuff like rechargeable batteries and sustainable upholstery (Indika's hemp slip cover satisfactorily spruced up our aging sofa). G&G uses no disposable shopping bags (BYOB or buy a reusable one there), and if you bike, bus, or arrive à pied, you'll get 10% off. Welcome to Paradise.
